

ECL Services Africa has contracted the services of B & A for a number of interventions

The relationship between ECL Services Africa and B&A commenced in 2012. The involvement of B&A in the past 3 years, has significantly improved the overall HR/IR functions of the business.

The HR/IR related training provided by B&A is extremely beneficial as it is practical and easy to understand and therefore implement.

Also of considerable value, was the Leadership Development training that was attended by all managers and team leaders. The tools given to these attendees have greatly enhanced their own performances.

Following the leadership development training, the managers embarked on one-on-one coaching sessions with Bradley Pandy. These sessions have added tremendous value to the team and the overall benefit to the business, has been very visible.

All the above interventions have been integral in improving the team dynamics and the culture of the business.

I would highly recommend B&A to any organization that is looking for a trustworthy and reliable business to deal with.
